Claims 1-5

The invention set forth in claims 1-5 does not involve an inventive step in the light of documents 1-4 cited in the international search report.

Document 1 discloses the feature of determining the flow rate and the output of the electrolyte in a redox flow battery in order to accommodate a power generation device (solar cell), which exhibits irregular fluctuations in power output, and the demand for power, which also exhibits irregular fluctuations.

In addition, the feature of optimizing the internal parameters of another battery on the basis of the standard deviation in the output of a power generation device that exhibits irregular fluctuations in power output is well known as disclosed in documents 2-4.
